I am a professional video editor and director with experience in motion design and color grading with 9+ years of experience working in the Seattle area. I Have worked on various freelance projects while also being employed, full-time, on different teams within Amazon for the last 7 years.

I thrive on collaboration and being part of a team but also enjoy working independently and problem-solving on my own. With every decision I make I strive to take the project to the next level and create new and interesting ways to engage with the customer. I want to continue to collaborate, learn, and push my boundaries as an editor and creative. I look forward to what lies ahead!
